

Gen. Smith Gains After Operation

Gen. Walter Bedell Smith was reported resting comfortably at Walter Reed Hospital last night after a minor eye operation May 2.

The wartime Chief of Staff of Allied Forces in Europe, now 61, had sustained a slight hemorrhage in the right eyeball which weakened the retina. A statement from his hospital indicated he is making satisfactory progress and will probably be able to return home next week.